To the lady first correctly guessing the identity of the person of whom the following is a character sketch, and bringing a copy of this paper to The Tribune office, a cash prize of $1.00 will be given. The subject of the sketch is a prominent citizen of La Crosse. After winning one prize, a contestant will not be eligible to again compete for a period of three months.

President F. A. Cotton, of the normal school, was the subject of the character sketch in last week's "Guess Who's Here" contest, Mrs. Geo. Collins, 617 Vine street, bringing in the first correct answer.

He inherited a sense of humor and a punch. He acquired a love of books, but nature spared him that P. G. of his profession, a judicial temperament. He grew up tall and strong and straight—a straight as a string as the black hair which family tradition ascribes to ancestry distinguished also for high cheek bones; but tradition and history here conflict, tradition's fiction quite naturally confusing certain well defined elements of similarity between Scott and Sioux. In youth he burned the midnight oil over Jules Verne; now he burns the midnight kilowatts over Ibsen and Goethe, interrupted only by an occasional frolic with some such lovable old pal as Col. Carter. Could he travel far enough the road to yesterday we might expect to find this upon his ancestry, for the spectators' gallery is crowded with fishes when he takes a dip. He likes the fly-rod and the gun, and in the gymnasium and the punching bag share his attentions with track and medicine ball. He is an insurgent of the insurgents—resenting the stultifying clutch of conventionalities, rebellious against artificial restraints—a literary nomad wandering among his books and authors by what ways he likes to travel. Widely learned, a boy in middle life, a good lawyer and a good friend—he hurls defiance at cut-and-dried existence, and lets each day's sun and moon bring him that day's chapter in the book of life. Meeting, men measure men by the message of the hand clasp. Shake this man by the hand.

E. F. Ziegelman, better known as Eddie Ziegelman among the La Crosse high school students of 1900, reached the second lap in his insistent fight for success when he graduated from the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, a few days ago and received an assignment to the King's County Hospital, New York. Ziegelman, upon graduating from the high school here in 1899, procured a position at the drug store of Previous to his leaving to enter the Jefferson college he told friends in La Crosse that he would not be satisfied with his degree but intended to take a course in a European medical college within a few years.

Friend Tom Burns' friend Taggart—Tom Taggart, mind you! not Harry Taggart—has let Tom in on the best betting proposition of the century. Don't make any political bets with Tom this year, for TOM KNOWS WHO'S GOING TO BE THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

It was duly recorded in these columns that Tom Burns had departed for French Lick Springs, the home of Tom Taggart, the American Monte Carlo and the rendezvous of all anti-Bryan democracy. But Tom Burns wasn't like the fellow who couldn't come back, so he came back in due time.

"I know who's going to be the next president," said Tom in a popular club last evening. "I have it from Tom Taggart himself," said Mr. Burns, impressively. He looked around to watch it sink in.

"That is," continued Mr. Burns, "a friend of a friend of Tom Taggart said his friend had it straight from a friend of Tom. Not many people know about it, only a few of us who are on the inside. Almost I like to laugh to think how I know who it's going to be, and you fellows won't know until after election."

Awestricken, the other clubmen gazed in dumb wonder at this wonderful Tom who had it straight from the wonderful Tom Taggart who is to be our next president. Finally one of them stepped into a parachute and dropped gracefully to earth.

"Who is it?" he asked. Tom regarded the fresh person for a moment with an air of icy superiority. Then, with dignified reserve, he condescended to explain.

"I'm not at liberty to say," said Mr. Burns. "I got it in confidence."

OFTEDAHL BODY FRUND IN RIVER

Clammer Drags Body of Westby Farmer from the Mississippi; Man May Have Been Murdered

BODY HAS BEEN IDENTIFIED

Pictures Lead to Identification; the Cause of Death Is Not Yet Ascertained

The body of Ole Oftedahl, Westby, was dragged from the Mississippi river opposite the Spears boat livery by Otto Dornbach at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Pictures found upon the body were identified as those seen in Oftedahl's possession. Relatives residing at Westby were immediately notified.

Whether death was due to accident, suicide or murder has not yet been decided by the coroner but a thorough investigation, and examination of the body will be made later.

A picture of Mrs. Louis Larson, 918 Tyler street was found upon the body. She identified other pictures as those she had seen in the possession of Oftedahl.

Anton Johnson and Louis Olson, saloon keepers, residing on South Third street, who were acquainted with Oftedahl, both identified the body.

According to Mrs. Larson's story, Oftedahl, a man of forty years who resides near Westby, has been staying in La Crosse during the last few months and has been at her home several times. Last Sunday she urged him to return to Westby and he left her home at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, saying he was going to return to Westby. That is the last she saw of him. She declared that some unknown person had called her up on the telephone yesterday and asked if she had seen him or knew where he was.

Undertaker Fessler, who took charge of the body, declared that from appearances it had been in the water about a week. Mrs. Larson said that Oftedahl had not been drinking Sunday and that she knew of no reason why he should have committed suicide. From the location where the body was found it is probable that he either jumped off the bridge or was hurled off.

The body was attired in ordinary working clothing, a dark brown shirt, black coat, striped trousers and low shoes. No money was found in the pockets.

DECISIVE SHOT IN WATER WAR

Letter from Railroad Commission Says City Has No Power in Selecting Supply Source

MUST INSTALL A WELL PLANT

Council Votes Tentative Adoption of Alvord & Burdick Plan, Including Reservoir

After twenty years of the most bitter fighting in the history of La Crosse, between the well and river factions on the water question, the decisive shot was fired last night when a communication from the state railroad commission, declaring that the city has no power in selecting the source of supply of the city's water, was submitted at the meeting of the city council. There may be some minor skirmishing but the real war is ended.

The state board of health alone has the right to dictate the source of supply according to the information received from the railroad commission, and even though the city council was unanimously in favor of the river system it would be helpless in changing the source of supply from the proposed well system to the river.

Letter Sent to Smith

Following is the letter in full, received by Alderman B. C. Smith in answer to a letter requesting information: "Mr. B. C. Smith,

"La Crosse, Wis. "Dear Sir: We beg leave to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 4th inst. relative to the water situation at La Crosse. It is unfortunate that any member of the common council should insist upon the city doing that which the law will not permit. As you are aware, the state board of health determines the source of the water supply and has authority to condemn any existing water supply. The state board of health has approved the well water and would disapprove a filtration system under the circumstances. There is nothing that the city can do other than to resort to the well supply, of course the state board of health could be asked to condemn your present water supply. This, however, would be a hardship upon the city.

"I fully agree with you that the arguments advanced for a filtration (Continued on Page 6)

TO STOP WHEELS AT CARNIVAL

Public Welfare League Has Warrants in Blank Ready for Instant Use

With blank warrants already made out for the arrest of the operators and destruction of all gambling devices at the baseball carnival, the Public Welfare league is waiting for the opening of the carnival Monday to see if their warnings to those in charge of these devices in former years will be heeded.

Representatives of the league called upon all those interested during the past week. They were told that the candy-wheels and similar devices would be tried, but the league has determined to fight the thing through. They declare the county judge and district attorney are with them in their fight, and that they have the law on their side.

L. P. Denoyer, president of the league, declared this morning that the league's stand was not due to any animosity toward the baseball association, but only to a desire for consistency.

"Candy store men, druggists, cigar store keepers, and others have come to me," said he, "and announced their intention of putting back their own gambling machines if we allow devices of a similar sort at the carnival. It is up to us to stop them if we would be consistent, and we will.

"The scheme of giving away a small box of candy or package of gum with each paddle will not protect the operators of wheels from prosecution. The very fact that their device can be operated as a gambling machine makes it illegal, and gives anyone the power to have it confiscated. We will not allow any form of gambling device at the baseball carnival."

FRANK J. TOLAND DIES SUDDENLY

Noted Business College Man Stricken with Heart Failure in Ludington, Mich.

HE FOUNDED MANY SCHOOLS

More Than 20,000 Students Studied Under La Crosse Educator; Well Known in Northwest

Frank J. Toland, well known in La Crosse as the founder and for several years the conductor of the Wisconsin Business university in this city, died suddenly of heart failure late last night on his farm near Ludington, Mich. The first intimation of his illness was received in the form of a telegram by Leigh Toland, his son, last night. The message was followed by another a few moments later announcing his death. Leigh Toland and his brother, Ralph, left at once for Ludington. The other members of the family will go there today to be present at the funeral services which will be conducted by the Masonic lodge at Ludington from the Masonic temple Monday afternoon. Burial will be made in the Ludington cemetery.

Founded Many Schools

F. J. Toland was not only well known in this city as an educator but because of the many schools of business which he founded, his fame extended throughout the northwest. Born in Burlington, Iowa, in 1853, Mr. Toland grew to young manhood and received his education in the city of his birth. Having a natural aptitude for penmanship which he carefully cultivated and developed under a system of his own invention, he, early in life, saw the advantage to which his gift could be turned. His first endeavors along the lines of educational work were made in various cities and towns of Missouri. Organizing classes and traveling from one place to another giving instruction, he soon decided to give a broader scope to his activities. From this small beginning he developed the business college.

The first Toland college was established at Canton, Ill. This school met with instantaneous success and is still turning out large numbers of graduates under the Toland system. After three years' management of this school, Mr. Toland came to La Crosse, in 1890 and bought the Wallace Business school which had been started here a short time before. Starting with seven students, he soon put the school on a paying basis and made it the parent school for nearly a dozen others that he founded in cities of the northwest. Young men and women educated in the La Crosse college were chosen to manage the other schools as they became strong enough to leave the personal supervision of Mr. Toland. Among these schools, which he disposed of later, were those at Winona, Minn.; Eau Claire, Wis.; Wausau, Wis.; Monroe, Wis.; Oelwein, Iowa; Mason City, Iowa; and Nebraska City, Neb.

Taught More Than 20,000

The one course of study that Mr. Toland specialized in was the penmanship and his students came from all parts of the country to take up the work in this department. The other branches of business education were also developed in his schools so that the student on graduation was prepared to take up practical work in the business life. It is estimated that more than 20,000 students have received their business education under the active supervision of Mr. Toland since he undertook educational work.

After disposing of all his other college interests except the school in La Crosse, Mr. Toland retired from active work about two years ago, turning the management over to his son, Leigh.

Mr. Toland is survived by his wife, three sons, Leigh, Ralph and Hewett, one brother, B. J. Toland and one sister, Mrs. Ada Spore of China Post-office, Louisiana.

THE FLORIDA CONTEST SPLIT

T. R. Brings Two Contesting Delegations to Convention, and Both Will Lose

- Contests disposed of up to 2:30 Saturday—40.
- States disposed of—Alabama and Arkansas, and part of Florida.
- Delegates added to Taft column—40.
- Delegates added to Roosevelt column—None.

CHICAGO, June 8.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon eight contests for seats in the national convention from Florida had been passed upon. The six Taft delegates at large were seated after a fight, as were the two Taft delegates from the first district.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Following the seating of the Arkansas delegates-at-large and those from two of the state districts by the republican national committee yesterday, the claims of the Roosevelt contests in the balance of the state were taken up this morning, with apparently no hope that they would be decided favorably.

The arguments on the Third, Fourth and Fifth Arkansas districts were at the time heated, but without question. When the roll was called the Taft and Roosevelt members lined up according to schedule, and the Taft majority won. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the Taft contestants from every district had been seated. The Arizona and California contests have been put over until next week. This was done, so far as California was concerned, in order to permit Francis J. Heney to be present and argue the case for the Roosevelt men in California.

While on the face of things there is only one real California contest, that from the fourth district, the upholding of the contentions of the Taft following would in reality mean the invalidating of the entire California, Oregon and North Dakota district delegations.

The California contests set forth that under the call of the republican convention, delegates are to be elected at large. This it is declared was not done in California and had it been done Taft would have had the Fourth district delegates.

Former Congressman Jim Tawney of Winona, Minn., made his first appearance in the committee while the Fourth district of Arkansas contest was being heard. He held the proxy of Committeeman John W. Blodgett of Michigan.

When the Florida contests were called it developed that the Roosevelt forces were divided. Two separate contests were presented by the Roosevelt managers, but it seemed obvious from the outset that the Taft forces, headed by National Committeeman Henry S. Chubb, would be seated.

WOUNDS WIFE, KILLS SELF

CHICAGO, June 8.—When William Heller, a carpenter, returned home early today, his wife was waiting for him. She reprimanded him for staying out so late. They quarreled. He shot at her, the bullet passing through both her cheeks. She fell to the floor screaming. Thinking he had killed her, Heller fired a bullet into his own brain, dying instantly. Mrs. Heller was not seriously wounded.

PERMITS LABOR PARADE

CHICAGO, June 8.—For the first time in the history of organized labor in Chicago, a permit was issued to all unions now on strike to parade through west side streets and into the loop district. Police Chief McWeeny issued the permit today, making but one stipulation—that no banners or other devices calculated to incite hatred of any man or class of man be displayed.

Only Hope of T. R.

Each individual committeeman told that the only hope of the Roosevelt forces was to get individual delegates to agree to vote against sustaining the national committee's action in making up the temporary roll call. They were told that this would be the real test in the convention. Flinn explained that the national committee would go on record against the Roosevelt men in every district. He told the committeemen that, even though the Taft leaders could get every vote they claim, their majority would not exceed 25 and he

"Of all queer jobs last night's was the queerest," said the impecunious man. "About 5 o'clock I called on a rich man on whom I have a kind of claim and asked for a small loan. He said he had nothing to lend, but that if I would come up to his house about 8 o'clock he would give me a job whereby I could earn a couple of dollars."

"I went. The rich man sat before a pile of old clothes. 'I'm going to give away all these things that are not fit to wear,' he said. 'That is what I want you for—to find out which suits still look decent. I can't get much of an idea when they're on myself, but you've got a tidy figure, and anything that looks well on you will still pass muster on me, and I'll keep it.' "I began to try on clothes. I turned and twisted while that man examined his stock. Finally he decided to send six suits to the Salvation army. The rest he guessed looked classy enough to wear on rainy days. Far my evening's work he gave me $2 and a cast-off suit of clothes."—New York Times.

TWO FESTIVITIES AT MYRICK PARK

Coburn Players and Annual Kinder-fete Hold Forth in Public
Playground

Myrick park was the scene of two festivities this week, of which the chief was the performance of "Canterbury Pilgrims" by the Coburn Players last night. It is seldom that lovers of the drama in La Crosse are witnesses of a more novel entertainment than the offering of Mr. Coburn and his band. The play put on last night lends itself especially to open-air presentation, owing to its rollicking and joyous mood, which holds something of the out-of-doors, and the artistry of the actors is beyond cavil. Costuming of the piece is historically correct, and the audience was apparently only more enthused by the lack of the conventionally elaborate scenery. This afternoon Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" holds the turf, and tonight "Electra" a classic Greek tragedy, is the offering.

The other gala occasion in the park Thursday was the first annual kinder-fete of the La Crosse schools. Estimated at 1,500, a crowd of youngsters and oldsters on pleasure bent participated and witnessed the climax of the year's work in the eight public school kindergartens and the corresponding department of the normal school. The feature of the entertainment was the Maypole dance in which 400 tots participated, the precision of their evolutions speaking volumes for the work of their instructors. Miss Fenton, director of the kindergartens of the city, and Miss Hitchcock of the normal school, were in charge of the festivities, which included all sorts of games.

STUDENTS REBEL AGAINST FACULTY

MADISON, Wis., June 8.—For the first time in the history of the university, serious difficulties have arisen over the choice of the staff of the Daily Cardinal, the student newspaper, for the next school year. When the Cardinal board of faculty directors announced their choice, the students refused to accept the recommendations. The most serious disagreement arose over the reappointment of Alvin H. Kessler, Evansville, Ind., to the position of managing editor. Kessler has been popularly successful, and when the directors refused to appoint him for another year the present news staff and the men chosen for high positions rebelled. One Milwaukeean will hold an editorial position on the new staff. Hugo Boguslawsky, '15, a former West Division High school student, has been chosen to fill the position of sporting editor.

Lady and Refused to Speak to Her

ATLANTA, Ga.—"Some of my friends, who live only two blocks from me, did not know me when they met me on the street the other day," writes Mrs. Mattie Christopher, of this city.

"I look so much better now, than they ever saw me. They were surprised, and asked me to excuse them for not speaking to me.

I told them I felt better too, and that it was all due to Cardui, the woman's tonic.

I had suffered for 20 years with female trouble, which, at times, was so bad that for six weeks I would go on without seeing anything.

Home remedies and doctors' medicines did me no good, but Cardui worked like a charm.

I will always praise Cardui for what it has done for me."

If you are pale, don't use the rouge pot and change your appearance by artificial means.

Follow a more natural course and take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

It will enrich your blood, build up your constitution, and make you look better and feel better as it has been doing for other ladies during the past half century.

HARMONY REIGNS IN LEGISLATURE

ST. PAUL, June 8.—With it tacitly understood that the senate will approve the house program, since reapportionment and congressional redistricting practically have been put in the discard, the legislative mill is grinding smoothly.

A reapportionment bill, however, will be introduced, probably Monday, in the house, to keep the records of the legislators from strong reapportionment districts intact. Representative Cleon T. Knapp, backed by Henry Rines of Mora and C. H. Warner of Aitkin, will go through with this part of the program, but with the present temper of the house the question as an extra session issue seems likely to die in the lower body.

WHAT THE GOVERNOR MIGHT HAVE SAID

We can not conceive of a progressive republican disagreeing with what Governor McGovern said to William Barnes of New York about the Hon. Elihu Root, upon the occasion of Mr. Barnes' request, on behalf of Mr. Root, for the support of the Wisconsin delegation to the republican convention.

Governor McGovern said, in substance, that Mr. Root is a stand-patter, and a representative of Big Business, and that he has not the sympathy and cannot secure the support of the Wisconsin delegation.

It is asserted that it was assumption on the part of Governor McGovern to thus speak for the Wisconsin delegation. Perhaps it was, yet we doubt if any member of the delegation could or would take issue with what the governor said.

Some of his adverse critics have declared that the governor's message to Mr. Barnes, in repudiating Mr. Taft, carried an implication that Wisconsin's delegation is in sympathy with Colonel Roosevelt and will ultimately come to his support. These critics seem to assume that having failed to declare himself contrarily, the governor's repudiation of Mr. Taft amounts to a promise to Roosevelt.

We are inclined to think that the criticism of Governor McGovern for having expressed himself regarding Mr. Root is unjust, at least in that it takes a wrong angle. Doubtless Governor McGovern is without authority to speak for the Wisconsin delegation, but as governor of the commonwealth under a republican administration he is the head of the republican party in this state, and as leader of that party it was proper for him to say exactly what he did say of Mr. Root.

It would have been equally proper for him to have said—and the opportunity was a grand one—that the republican party of Wisconsin is for Robert M. La Follette for president of the United States, that it gave him a majority of a hundred thousand votes, that it pledged its delegation to support him consistently to the end. It would have been proper for the governor to have said to Mr. Barnes that Wisconsin will have to offer to the convention its own platform, and its own organization; and that therefore, if the Wisconsin delegation shall obey the will of the party in this state it will be for neither Mr. Taft's candidate for temporary chairman nor for Mr. Roosevelt's candidate for that position, but for a candidate of its own who is prepared to support the Wisconsin ideas as embodied in the Wisconsin platform, and the Wisconsin presidential candidate, Robert Marion La Follette.

Had the governor said these things, not as a delegate, but as head of the republican party of Wisconsin, as he had a right to do, there would have been no chance for those who now criticize him to have read into his message to William Barnes an intimation that he is ready to desert the Wisconsin progressive organization and take service at Orster Bay.

SHALL WE PROFIT BY FORESTRY'S LESSON

Too late we are learning through our modern study of forestry, how recklessly, criminally extravagant we have been with the richest and most beneficent natural resources with which nature ever endowed a country or a nation. Robbing the earth of her precious minerals leaves little or no trace on her surface and brings no disastrous consequences upon the welfare of her inhabitants. But destroying our forests is not only a wanton, inexcusable economic waste of valuable material, but strikes directly at the source of our existence—our food supplies. It destroys the conservator of the rainfalls, so necessary to successful agriculture and dependable crops.

Substitutes and artificial methods may be found for supplying the tiller of the soil with water, but much care, many failures, and many years must precede the replacement of the forests which should have been considered and guarded as a constant source of immense revenue to state and nation. The unthinking and unheeding vandalism of the lumberman must be an increasing reproach to the fortunes founded upon the destruction of our timber supplies. Even now the lumbermen and paper manufacturers of this country are seeking to preserve a high protective tariff on lumber and wood products from the vast and virgin forests of Canada, so that they may burden the people with an artificial profit for the pockets of the few.

This is but a minor and supplementary consideration. The main question, the great regret, is the enormous loss of revenue to private ownership and public funds which could have been averted by an intelligent and honest attention and attitude on the part of the government toward the preservation of forest areas and the conservation of timber supplies.

There is not a great nation in Europe that does not jealously guard and control its forests. Now forestation is going on, not a stick of timber is cut from standing forests except under government supervision. And this authority extends over private ownership as well. Both forest areas and forest revenues are constantly increasing.

Prof. Roth, of the University of Michigan, cites an example of the benefits obtained under the above conditions. A little village in Germany is spending $100,000 on water works and railways, under a cent of extra taxation, the expense being borne by the revenues from 900 acres of forest land. Instances of this kind might be multiplied almost without end.

Why are not vigorous and adequate forestry measures taken in this country? Surely we have not the excuse of ignorance or lack of example—neither we the public, nor our representatives in legislature and congress. Shall we go on permitting politics to prevent consideration of public interests, or shall we compel our legislators to heed the importance and give action to the solution of these questions? The public press has here an evident duty and a heavy responsibility. We in Wisconsin can use our own state as the "horrible example."

A new book has been issued on White House etiquette. This should be added as a school text book in order that coming presidents may be properly prepared.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

What Might Be Done.
What might be done if men were wise—
What glorious deeds, my suffering brother,
Would they unite
In love and right,
And cease their scorn of one another.

Oppression's heart might be imbued
With kindling drops of loving kindness;
And knowledge pour
From shore to shore
Light on the eyes on mental blindness.

All slavery, warfare, lies and wrongs.
All vice and crime might die together;
And wine and corn
To each man born,
Be free as warmth in summer weather.

The meanest wretch that ever trod,
The deepest sunk in guilt and sorrow,
Might stand erect
In self-respect
And share the teeming world to-morrow.

What might be done? This might be done,
And more than this my suffering brother—
More than the tongue
E'er said or sung,
If men were wise and loved each other.

A New Beau Brummel Story.
E. H. Sothern tells a Beau Brummel story which has air of newness. Brummel had been invited to the duke of Bedford's for a fortnight's visit. After he had been there about a week, he sauntered into the breakfast room one morning and remarked to the duke:
"I am leaving today."
"And why so soon," inquired the surprised host.
"I find," explained Brummel carelessly, "that I am in love with your wife."

"Don't let that worry you," replied the duke. "I was in love with her myself twenty-five years ago."
"But," gently insisted Brummel, "she is in love with me."
"Oh," replied the duke, "then you had better go."

The Second String.
Mrs. Bache Conde, suffragette, was talking about a former leader who had deserted her party when ill fortune befell it.
"She deserted her party shamelessly," said Mrs. Conde. "She reminded me of a beautiful New York girl."

"Her fiancé faltered in this girl's car one evening."
"My dear, I have been deceiving you. I am not the manager of our concern at $8,000 a year, but only a humble clerk at $9 a week. Will this make any difference to you?"
"The girl lifted her golden head from his breast with a slight start."
"No it will make no difference," she said.

"Not the least difference, darling."
"Not the least," she replied, rising and smoothing her hair. "Old Gobsa Golde's proposal still holds good. I'll wire him at Fifth Avenue residence this evening."
—Minneapolis Journal.

CURSES!
They were in Italy together.
"If you would let me curse them black and blue," said the groom, "we wouldn't have to wait so long for the trunks."
"But, dearest, please don't. It would distress me so," murmured the bride.

The groom went off, but quickly returned with the porters before him trundling the trunks at a double quick.
"Oh, dearest, how did you do it? You didn't—"
"Not at all. I thought of something that did it quite as well, I said, 'S-s-susquehanna, R-r-r-appahannock!'" —June Lippincott's.

"Three years ago this winter I had a breaking out that covered my whole body. It itched so it seemed as if I should go crazy."

It first came out in little pimples on my back and spread till it covered my whole body and limbs down to my knees, also my arms down to my elbows. Where I scratched, it made sores, and the terrible itching and burning kept me from sleeping. I tried several remedies but all to no purpose. Then I concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, also the Resolvent, for about four months, and they completely cured me of eczema. I have had no return of the disease since. I never had a good night's rest after the skin eruption first broke out till I commenced using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had only used them a few days before I could see for myself that they were better remedies for any skin disease than the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." Convention Sidelights

A report that rival campaign managers had succeeded in installing dictographs in the private quarters of their most bitter opponents caused considerable amusement to middle of the road delegates today. But although treated as a joke it was noticed every picture in each of the headquarters was moved and furniture behind which the machine might have been concealed was shifted.

Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania, who is limping around the committee rooms admitted today that the steam roller in actual operation is a bad thing. His limp, he says, is due to a horse throwing him after it became frightened at a road roller in operation on a Washington street.

Private telephone lines strung on cables that do not touch hotel switchboards connect the campaign managers and their party chiefs. The result is that Col. Roosevelt and President Taft are kept at all times familiar with what is going on. The benefit of this arrangement was shown last night when, as soon as the committee had shown it was anti-Roosevelt, Senator Dixon was able to have Roosevelt start "Leader." William Flinn and Alexander Moore of Pittsburgh to the rescue without a second's delay.

Many of the big chieftains of the democratic party are looking them over here. Among those occupying seats on the side lines today were former Governor David R. Francis of Missouri; Roger Sullivan of Illinois; Urey Woodson of Kentucky; John Burton of New York, and not a single one would agree with the other on what was going to happen at Baltimore.

Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, will open personal headquarters here next week with Senator Kenyon in charge. It was stated here today that Cummins will probably be the first man nominated as an attempt is being made to have Alabama give way on the roll call to the Cummins men in Iowa so that the senator's name can be presented to the convention.

Aged, Wrinkled Faces Easily Rejuvenated

(From The Beauty Seeker.)
An aged face is often only a mask to a comparatively youthful person. Beneath is a countenance young and fair to look upon. It's a simple matter to remove the mask. Ordinary mercurized wax, to be had at any drugstore, gradually absorbs the worn-out surface skin; in a week or two the user has the loveliest pinky white complexion imaginable. An ounce of the wax usually is sufficient to complete the transformation. It is put on at night like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water.
This remarkable treatment is invariably effective, no matter how muddy, sallow or discolored the complexion. Freckles, moth-patches, liver spots, pimples, blackheads and other cutaneous blemishes, naturally vanish with the discarded skin.
To remove wrinkles and flabbiness, here is a recipe that cannot be too highly recommended: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in 1/2-pint wash hazel. Use as a wash lotion.

The Yellow Letter

A FASCINATING MYSTERY STORY.

BY WILLIAM JOHNSTON.

Copyright 1911—The Potts-Merrill Co.

CHAPTER XVI. The Forty-ninth Hour.

Two days—two unforgettable days—we passed there in the hut. Davis and I and our self-tortured prisoner. Each day the constable came and went, the first day to tell us that the inspector's plan for disposing of the postmaster's body had been successful and that no suspicion had been aroused. The second day a pleasant mission brought him to deliver telegrams from Crandall and Louise that all was well, that the general was slowly improving and that Katharine was recovering rapidly.

And all the while Young lay there bound, defying us, now cursing, now pleading, now in brilliant phrases striving to convince us by logical arguments so deft, so forceful, so cunning that a weaker and less wise man than Davis might have been convinced by them.

His logic failing, he would turn to merciless invective and ribald threats, his penetrating voice making the whole hut hideous as he prophesied for us both grotesque horrible deaths, brain-breaking punishments in this world and the next. Then, overcome once more by the intensity of his unsatisfied desire for the drug that had long been his master, he would moan and plead and weep for morphine.

At times delusions would seize his brain. By the hour he would rave of beautiful cities and wonderful fair women and pleasant pastimes. Majestic lines of poetry would flow from his fevered lips, to end in a shriek of agony as his quivering, knotted muscles all but tore his nerves apart. Again the weird morphia fantasies would take hold of him and a rush of horrible grotesque ribaldries would foul the air. At times he doted, moaning, in agony even in his sleep. Three times a day we offered him food, and once or twice he took a little water, but the one thing only he craved, the one thing he hungered and thirsted for was morphine, and that Davis would not let him have, though all the while it lay there almost within his reach, where he could see it.

And still he defied us. But after forty-eight hours of this terrible torture nature would be put off no longer. She demanded rest. Young had sunk into a troubled, uneasy sleep about seven in the morning. Davis and I, having spelled each other as guards during the night, sat talking about our prisoner. I happened to remark that it was a pity that capital punishment could not remove such criminals as Young from the earth. The inspector, in spite of the rigorous way he had kept up the torture, seemed to have strong sympathy for Young.

"I don't believe in capital punishment at all," he said explosively. "Our whole system is wrong. It took us a good many centuries to discover that insane persons didn't need prisons, but doctors. They just can't help being criminals. Stand behind a line of prisoners as they march in to breakfast in the penitentiary. Not one of them will have a normal head. Is that their fault? It is the fault of society. It's our fault. This poor devil here, his father a drug fiend and his mother drinking herself into insanity, what chance did he have? Yet who knows, some day this marvelous new surgery may be able to take the children of even such parents as his were, reshape their skulls and make them honest, useful citizens."

There was a stir on the couch and Young opened his eyes. The fire of the drug-madness and the look of hate seemed to have vanished.

"I give up," he said. "I can't stand the strain any longer. I'll tell you anything you want to know."

He spoke quietly and calmly. Yet there was something in his voice that rang true. I felt that this time he meant what he said. Apparently Davis, too, realized that at last Young's spirit was broken. Without hesitation, he seized the hypodermic syringe and plunged it into Young's arm. The prisoner breathed a long sigh of relief. The color came back into his face and strength to his voice. His muscles stopped twitching.

"Now," said Davis gently, "where are the yellow letters hid?"

"In a tin-box under a flat stone near the spring," Young replied.

"Which stone?"

"It's the third from the spring coming this way."

Davis was up like a shot and out the door, reappearing quickly with an ordinary document box.

"And the Farrish papers—where are they?" he asked sharply.

"They are in the box, too," said Young wearily. "May I have another shot?"

Davis studied his face and felt his pulse and then reached for the syringe.

"Where's the key?" he asked as he finished administering the morphine.

"In my left trousers' pocket," Young answered apathetically. Quickly Davis possessed himself of the key and opened the box. In the top tray were perhaps fifty letters, type-written on yellow paper, with a blank left for the name to be filled in. Without stopping to read the letters, which seemed to be all after the same form, Davis lifted the tray. In the bottom of the box was a type-written list of names and a bulky sealed legal envelope, marked on the outside "Papers in the Farrish case."

"Here, Kent," said Davis, handing me the envelope, "take charge of these and give them to Miss Louise or Miss Katharine. You're entitled to that."

Joyfully I stowed the envelope in my breast pocket, my heart bounding at the thought of the relief the sight of the package would bring to the Farrish family. But as yet the whole affair was a blind puzzle to me and I waited eagerly for further developments.

"Now, Young," said the inspector, "tell me all about your scheme."

"If the damn thieves hadn't been such cowards as to go and kill themselves," said Young with a glow of enthusiasm, "I would have been a millionaire within a year. Read one of the letters and you can see for yourself just how good the scheme was."

DOCTORS ENDORSE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE FOR THE HAIR

When a doctor endorses a preparation it means more than an ordinary testimonial. His opinion is always that of the professional man devoted to the welfare of the people.

Dr. J. J. Boyd, Covington, Tenn., says: "I feel it my duty to write this for the benefit of those suffering from dandruff. In the average case a few applications of Newbro's Herpicide will remove all dandruff. It is advisable to continue its use for several weeks."

The words of J. B. Thompson, M. D., No. 2 Burroughs Place, Cor. Hollis St., Boston, Mass., are not less enthusiastic: "I can only speak in praise of Newbro's Herpicide. It is all that is claimed and perhaps more. Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp but brightens the hair, gives it life and makes it soft."

Dr. T. A. Moore, Duncan, Ariz.,

writes of his experience: "My scalp was in places covered by patches of dry, scaly material and the itching was incessant. Since using Herpicide all these evils have disappeared and my hair is soft, smooth and growing. Hair has grown on spots before but thinly covered."

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy to kill the dandruff germ and stop falling hair. The terrible itching which goes with dandruff is allayed almost at once.

Applications may be obtained at the leading barber shops. Be sure you get genuine Herpicide. Send 10c in postage for sample and book to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. Hoeschler Bros., Special Agents.

ALASKA VOLCANO IS IN ERUPTION

Cordova Is Threatened by Earthquakes and Ashes from the Burning Mountain

CORDOVA, Alaska, June 8.—The inhabitants of this section of Alaska are in a state of terror today as the result of the eruption of one of the mountains in the Cook inlet country. Tremendous explosions, sounding exactly like regular cannonading, continued for hours yesterday, followed by a veritable rain of ashes, produced violent earth shocks, which threw the entire country hereabouts into a panic of fear. The fear of the people was increased by the uncertainty of what the phenomena meant.

Government officials here and at other Alaskan points made an effort to ascertain the cause of the phenomena by wireless, but failed because the condition of the atmosphere made radio telegraphy impossible. It is believed here that Redoubt mountain, or the Illiamna mountain, both in the Cook inlet country and both known to be volcanic, are now in violent eruption, though there is no way of telling definitely.

All night and today heavy clouds were hanging low over the country.

CANADIAN HOTEL SURPASSES AMERICAN

OTTAWA, Ont., June 8.—The Chateau Laurier at Ottawa which was opened as the first of the chain of hotels across the dominion of Canada which the Grand Trunk Pacific is building is said to surpass in lavish luxury any hotel in New York, Boston, Philadelphia or Chicago. Owing to the recent death of President Charles M. Hays of the railway company, the opening was without ostentation. The cost of the hotel was over $2,000,000 and other hotels in the chain are planned on similarly luxurious lines. The first to sign the register of the Chateau Laurier was former Premier of Canada, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. An old style of French architecture was followed with the high gables and battlements of medieval times.

GRADUATES TAKE RIDE IN LAUNCH

Girl Falls in River but Escapes with Ducking; Favalile to Give Baccalaureate

Yesterday afternoon at six o'clock the graduation class at the high school continued their graduation festivities by taking a launch ride on the river. They engaged the Bell-Singer and Otto launches and proceeded up the river as far as Dakota. They sang songs and told stories. Refreshments were served during the whole ride. All reported a very enjoyable time at this their last outing together with the faculty.

The party was upset for a few moments when just before leaving, Miss Frances Egbert, in the growing dusk, walked off the Singer dock into about twenty feet of swift water. Gene Hundemark who was standing close by caught her as she came up and with the assistance of Arthur Kauffuss pulled her out of her dangerous position. Miss Egbert would not have drowned as she is an expert swimmer and there were enough good swimmers around ready to go in after her were she unable to swim. The party proceeded on its way after she had gotten some dry clothes.

Rev. Henry Faville will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the high school at the First Congregational church tomorrow night at seven-thirty. It will be an address rather than a sermon, the topic being "Our Teachers." The public is invited to attend this address as it is sure to be very interesting and instructive. The entire graduating class and faculty will be in attendance besides a large portion of the undergraduates.

SUBMARINE SINKS WITH ALL ABOARD

A French Diving Vessel Strikes Warship and Twenty-four Men Are Drowned

CHERBOURG, June 8.—The French submarine Vendemiaire was sunk early today in a collision with the battleship St. Louis. Twenty-four men went down with her, and it is believed impossible that they escaped drowning. The diver was taking part in naval maneuvers and disappeared in 180 feet of water. A rescue party was put to work at once.

Divers sent down immediately from the rescue ship were unable to reach bottom. It was stated by naval officers that the swift current prevailing, which prevented the divers from going all the way down, probably carried the sunken submarine a considerable distance from where she disappeared.

A dense fog prevailed at the time of the collision and was believed to be the cause of the disaster.

THINK COLONEL WILL APPEAR IN CHICAGO SOON

urged his followers to personally influence individual delegates so that this margin could be overturned on the first roll call after the convention assembled and the Roosevelt contestants seated instead of the Taft men put on the roll by the national committee.

This development overshadowed and dwarfed the sessions of the national committee. While that body kept the well oiled "steam roller" running on schedule in the Coliseum the big men of the Taft outfit gathered in the headquarters at the Congress. Every move made by the Roosevelt chieftains was reported and steps taken to checkmate it.

La Follette to Control

The leaders on both sides were plainly worried and it became more and more apparent that the final outcome in the convention would be determined by a very small margin, so small in fact that the likelihood of the La Follette delegates from Wisconsin and North Dakota holding the balance of power began to be very evident.

No one knows what Senator La Follette will do should this prove a fact. His representatives here said that he would continue as a candidate at all times and some of them professed to believe that the Taft men, if they find at the very last that they could not renominate the president would vote for La Follette rather than permit Colonel Roosevelt to get the nomination.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The crux of the entire situation in connection with the republican national convention rested with Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. Accepting as a fact that he will reach here next week and enter upon the active management of his own fight for the republican nomination, his leaders today rested on their oars. They said that the air had been cleared by the determination of the national committee to seat none but Taft men, and that now they would concentrate their strength on the unopposed delegates.

The Taft leaders were doing the same thing. With the record of the Ninth Alabama before them they stated that under no circumstances would a single Roosevelt delegate be seated with the possible exception of Washington state, and there were some Taft men who insisted that the "steam roller" would be a vital adjunct in disposing of that particular contest.

Believe in Bolt

The belief is now a concrete one with both sides that Roosevelt will personally assume charge of the situation immediately on his arrival here next week, that he will be defeated in his skirmish for position, and that he and his followers will hold a convention of their own. They will absolutely deny that they are bolters. Instead they will insist that they are the Simon pure republicans of the country and in every state where the progressives are in control they will demand that their nominees be considered regular and as such given the place on the official ballot to be voted next fall that the regular republican candidates usually occupy.

While they are doing so the Taft chieftains were getting ready to give the president a progressive running mate as well as to promulgate a progressive platform that they think will be a winner before the voters.

Today the Taft favorite for second place was Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa.

McGovern Discussed

The Roosevelt men continued to insist today that if the national committee seated every Taft delegate from the contested district, they would only have a majority of fifteen delegates and that this would be offset by the La Follette delegates from Wisconsin and North Dakota. The La Follette delegates also believed this and were asserting that they would hold the balance of power in the convention and would be able to dictate both the platform and the nominee. Some of the Roosevelt leaders were suggesting that they could get the La Follette strength if they would abandon Governor Hadley of Missouri as their candidate for temporary chairman against Senator Root of New York and declare for Governor Francis E. McGovern of Wisconsin.

It was flatly announced by Colonel Stone, sergeant-at-arms of the republican national committee that he had arranged with the Chicago authorities for police protection if they would abandon Governor Hadley of Missouri as their candidate for temporary chairman against Senator Root of New York and declare for Governor Francis E. McGovern of Wisconsin.

"It's a damn lie," declared State Senator William Flinn of Pittsburgh when he was asked regarding the report that he was going to organize a "popular demonstration" to impress the committee with the force of the Roosevelt claims. Flinn also stated that the report that the police of Chicago might have to forcibly "suppress" him was a "good joke."

He stated that Colonel Roosevelt was coming here, but declined to say when he was coming.

The motion to dismiss a garnishment proceeding brought by the Bank of Viroqua on the ground that it was an abusive process was overruled.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT PROVES ADVANCE

Display of Articles Made by Children Shows Surprising Development in Schools

WORK COVERS WIDE RANGE

Furniture, Cooking, Sewing, Art Work and Designing Among Things at Exhibition

The exhibition given yesterday and today by the public schools of this city in the building formerly occupied by the Poehling company on Fourth and Main streets is a very interesting and instructive one. Since the doors were opened yesterday noon the building has been thronged with interested spectators. To say the least the exhibition is the best of its kind ever seen in this city or this part of the state. Work from all the different practical departments of school education are on exhibition, there being drawings and clay work from the kindergartens to drawing tables made by the boys in the manual training department in the high school.

Probably the most interesting articles shown are the drawing benches made by the high school boys for the mechanical drawing room. These tables are listed at the manufactory at twenty-three dollars, but the high school boys have completed twenty of them at a cost of about eight dollars and forty cents each.

Kinder Work Good

About the most remarkable part of the exhibition is the clay work and colored drawing work of the kindergarten children. These little tots have modeled out of clay objects of their own ideas such as mice, birds, hats and dishes. It is surprising how closely these articles resemble the real objects. One kindergarten, that in the Webster school has made all the furniture necessary to furnish doll's play house with paper furniture which is really delightful to see. Their drawing and coloring work also is good.

The loads of furniture exhibited, made by the boys in the manual training department, are wonderful. There are large comfortable Morris chairs, piano benches, tables, taboretts, bookcases, footstools, hat racks, and every conceivable article. The boys in the lower grades are given specific articles to make but when they get up in the seventh and eighth grades they have their choice of numerous articles. The eighth grade boys at the Hamilton school have made a large library table out of quartered oak which they will present to their principal, Mr. Fowler.

Girls as Housekeepers

But the girls also have their place in the exhibition for they have cooking and needlework and art craft of all descriptions. There are a number of dresses which the girls have made for themselves which would do justice to any professional dressmaker. They choose their own goods and patterns in the upper grades and at the high school and make the dresses without the help of anyone. They not only make dresses but articles of wearing apparel of all descriptions.

The girls in the lower grades are taught how to make all the different sorts of patches, seams, button holes and such things which go to make a good housewife.

They not only know how to sew, but how to cook and serve their things properly. The grade school girls have an exhibit of bread, biscuits, cake, cookies, popovers, candy and salads which is the most appetizing array one would wish to see.

The high school girls have an exhibition far surpassing any ever seen here before. They have every conceivable salad, puddings, cookies, pies and cakes and candy which cannot be surpassed. They also have a large assortment of canned goods and gelatines. Several of the high school boys have been doing cooking work the last year and they have several loaves of bread on exhibition which look as good as the girls'.

The penmanship work is beautiful. The weaving work of the deaf school and fourth grade children is a new department of art in the schools. Their bags and tiny hammocks show good taste in combination of colors and the workmanship is perfect.

From the first to the fourth grades the children have been taught a new plan of art work to take the place of drawing. This is called construction work and they make rugs from cloth, design furniture in paper, all so houses and other buildings. It is more interesting and instructive work than the drawing.

The girls of the high school have an exhibit of leather hats and stenciled curtains and table covers which is very artistic and useful.

The exhibit of drawing from the first grade to advance work at the high school must be seen to be appreciated for there is work of all kinds, such as mechanical drawing, object work, copy work of marble, flowers and charcoal sketches.

This is truly a remarkable and interesting exhibition and clearly shows the great advance that has been made in our educational institutions in the last couple of years. Many people have already visited the exhibition and it is expected that many more will do so before it closes.

Nurse a grievance and watch it grow.

UNVEIL COLUMBUS MEMORIAL TODAY

Knights of Catholic Order from All of North America Attend

WASHINGTON, June 8.—In the presence of thousands of Knights of Columbus, assembled from all parts of the United States, Mexico, and Canada, a handsome $100,000 memorial to Christopher Columbus, discoverer of America, was unveiled here today with ceremonies in which President Taft, members of his cabinet, congressmen, senators and other noted men participated. Secretary of State Knox presided at the unveiling and the president and cabinet members made addresses. A picturesque street parade and pageant in which the army and navy representatives and thousands of Knights of Columbus passed in review before the president, speeches by distinguished orators, fireworks and a $10-a-plate banquet were included in the program of the day's festivities. Cardinal Gibbons is to be the guest of honor at the banquet which will be held in Convention hall this evening. There will be nearly 2,000 diners.

The unveiling of the memorial was the central figure of today's celebration. The memorial itself is a handsome granite pile located on the plaza of the $20,000,000 Union station. In a network of streets and parkways, within sight of the towering dome of the capitol, the imposing ceremony took place in the presence of over 50,000 people.

The memorial is in the form of an immense shaft, at the back of a fountain, surmounted by a huge globe indicative of the world, upon which is delineated the western hemisphere in relief, the corners of the globe being supported by four great eagles in stone. The figure of Columbus is seen standing on the prow of his vessel which projects into the fountain, while on either side of the shaft are replicas of two men, one indicative of the Old World, being an aged patriarch, while the other is a native of the new world—an Indian. The back of the shaft carries a medallion of Ferdinand and Isabella.

BLIND PIANIST TO GIVE CONCERT

Local Talent to Donate Services in Concert Given by Walter Goetzinger

Walter Goetzinger, the famous blind pianist, is to give a benefit concert at the Majestic theater on Wednesday evening, June 19. The object is to raise funds to enable Mrs. Goetzinger to go to Chicago, where a noted specialist will perform an operation to restore her sight, which is rapidly failing. Mr. Goetzinger went to this specialist a short time ago to ascertain whether or not anything could be done for him. He was told at that time that nothing could be done to restore his sight, but that his wife could be greatly helped if not entirely cured. Mr. Goetzinger will be assisted by the best local talent obtainable, and the concert promises to be a great success from an artistic as well as from a financial standpoint. Mr. George H. Burton is greatly interested in the success of the plan, and several others have given their support to this worthy cause.

TO CARE FOR CHILDREN.

A motion to remove three Leonard children from the custody of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Stone, their stepfather and mother, was heard before Judge John Brindley this morning. The case was adjourned until June 17, owing to the parents signifying their willingness to find a home for the children in a public institution where they will be properly cared for. If a satisfactory disposal of the case has not been made by that time, it will be continued. The complaint was filed by Poor Commissioner Sol Burdick.

WELLS IN MARSH SPOUTING WATER

High Water in Mississippi Forces Flow from Great Basin to the Surface

As though nature herself had decided to take a hand in the argument about the sufficiency of the underground water supply in the marsh near Myrick park which has been agitating the city council and citizens of La Crosse for several months, the two ten-inch wells which were dug to test the underground supply, yesterday began to spout water of their own accord. Although the pipes in the well are a good two feet above the surface of the surrounding ground water is flowing in a steady stream from the touts of each.

The explanation for the phenomenon is the high water in the Mississippi river. Situated in the huge sandstone basin which gathers rainfall over an area of 40,000 square miles, the wells are in the natural course of the basin's flowage toward the Mississippi river. With the rise in the river the ground has become saturated to such an extent that the water has commenced to back up in the basin, forcing some of the stream to the surface through the wells. It is not expected, however, that the wells will continue to overflow after the water has gone down in the river.

system are not valid. It is contrary to the best engineering skill and practice throughout the world.

Penalty May be Exact

"Of course, if the city refuses to carry out the order of the commission after the time has expired the city could be prosecuted and the penalty provided by the statute recovered and paid into the state treasury. These, of course, are severe remedies which ought not to be applied unless it becomes absolutely necessary."

"From all we can learn we are satisfied that a vast majority of the people of La Crosse want water that is reliable for its purity at all times. This cannot be obtained from the river under any system of filtration. Cities where filtration is an absolute necessity, such as Washington, D. C., Pittsburg and others, the water cannot always be relied upon. Although the filtration system is in charge of trained experts, the mechanism sometimes fails, and the water supply becomes impure."

Filtration Plant Impossible
It is difficult to appreciate why men insist upon doing something which cannot be done. Certainly, if the common council of La Crosse were unanimously for a filtration system, it would not be installed, for the reason that the state board of health would not approve it.

"Yours respectfully,
"J. E. Winterbotham, Secretary."

A resolution was adopted authorizing the acceptance of a contract with Alvord and Burdick to provide plans and specifications for the proposed well system and to supervise the construction and installation of the system. Under the terms of the contract on the provision of plans, Alvord and Burdick will receive one and one-half per cent of the total cost price of construction.

The board of public works was also authorized to enter into a contract with Alvord and Burdick to supervise the work of construction. Under this contract the engineers will receive two and one-half per cent of the cost of construction. Plan No. 1, as submitted by Alvord and Burdick, was adopted.

It was decided to accept tentatively the plans as they stand including the reservoir and in case the resolution to issue bonds for $150,000 for the construction of the bluff reservoir is defeated at the next meeting, the plans will be changed so as to exclude the reservoir.

Authorized to Buy Land
The city clerk was authorized to draw an order on the city treasurer for $3,800 for the payment of the purchase of forty acres of land north of Myrick park which will be used as a site for the wells and pumping plant.

A resolution authorizing the board of public works to purchase $500 worth of crushed stone for the improvement of Mill street between the Milwaukee tracks and the Monitor brewery and the ordering of the La Crosse City Railway company to take charge of the part of the street covered by their tracks was referred to the special street and finance committee.

Alderman P. W. Mahoney objected to the appropriation of $25 for the defraying of expenses for the attendance of Health Commissioner J. M. Furstman at the state convention of city health officers. Mr. Mahoney declared that Dr. Furstman should pay his own expenses. Alderman Frank G. Roth declared that this would be altogether too "cheap." The appropriation was carried.

To Fix West Avenue
A resolution was introduced, providing that drains be laid so as to eliminate a mud hole on the south end of West avenue. Mr. Falk of the board of public works offered to take charge of the removal of the present conditions but the resolution was referred to a committee.

TAFT PLATFORM IS PROGRESSIVE

If Roosevelt Loses, President's Supporters Will Put His Ideas in Their Party Policies

Neither Faction Has Planned Indorsement of New Currency System as an Issue

CHICAGO, June 8.—There will be little real difference between the platforms adopted by the republican national convention whether the Taft or the Roosevelt forces control. The Taft leaders are determined that if they are in the majority in the convention they will put through a strong progressive platform, admitting the justice of nearly everything the progressives have been fighting for in the great middle western section of the United States. They will, however, flatly denounce the recall of the judiciary and on that one plank they are already figuring on dividing the Roosevelt strength.

Against Aldrich Plan.

There will be no endorsement of the Aldrich currency plan, no matter who may be in control. That was made certain at an informal conference of some of the Taft wheel horses today. Even the advocates of the plan, like Senator Murray Crane of Massachusetts, admitted privately that any suggestion of an endorsement of the Aldrich scheme will be voted down.

The tariff plank of the Taft forces is short. It flatly declares for a revision downward on the "intelligent recommendations of the tariff board" and pledges the party to put through this program even if it is necessary to "call a special session of congress" to do so. The Roosevelt tariff plank is still a secret held by the Oyster Bay statesman.

Federal Trust Control.

The initiative and the referendum, with certain limitations, will be endorsed if Taft controls, and without reservations if Roosevelt is in command. The Taft platform should he control will insist that the solution of the trust problem is the placing of all corporations under federal control.

But as a general proposition it has already been decided that, no matter who controls, the platform will be progressive and will be designed to "take the wind from the sails" of the Baltimore pronouncement.

ELKS TO PLAY AT ST. PAUL TOMORROW

The local Elks' baseball team left today for St. Paul, where they meet the Elks' nine of that city tomorrow afternoon. As the local team is a strong aggregation, they expect a victory over the Twin City lodge. The team was accompanied to St. Paul by a bunch of roots who, although not large in numbers, made up in spirits what they lacked in number. The St. Paul Elks will play a return game with the locals in La Crosse on July 28.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The movement of today's stock market was all but nominal; changes in prices were trifling fractions. Such tendency was actually visible in prices was towards a slow, receding movement; this being somewhat more decided towards the close. There was no news to interest the stock exchange; even the republican national committee had hardly reconvened when the market closed.

It's tough when love's young dream dies of old age.

FIVE RUNS IN NINTH BEAT NORMALS

In a game marked by much wrangling over the umpire's decisions, the West Salem town team yesterday defeated the Normals by a score of 9 to 7. Capper with his underhand delivery was somewhat of a puzzle and allowed but eight hits, which coupled with five errors by his teammates netted the pedestrians their seven runs. Bartels was touched for eleven bingles, one of which was a home run by Wyn, but the bases were empty at the time. In the ninth inning West Salem secured five runs, which proved to be more than enough to win the contest.

Score by innings:
West Salem .030010005—9 1 5
La Crosse .000000121—7 6 3
Batteries—Capper and Wyn; Bartels and Griffin. Umpire—McGlyn.

MERCHANTS HEAR "CALL OF WILD"

Will Forget Dull Care for
One Day of Solid
Enjoyment on River

THEY PLAN A BIG EXCURSION

Two Steamers May Be Necessary to Take the Crowd to Winona
June 26

Did you ever notice that the sky seems to be bluer in June than at any other time in the year? And that the bluffs along the majestic curves of the Mississippi, clad in their new summer verdure, are more enticing? That the breeze blowing from the woods and water is more invigorating than at any other time?

Can you think of anything just now that would be more fun than packing up a big basket with picnic lunch, getting a comfortable seat on a big clean steamboat, and with your family and friends around you, watch the grandest scenery in this part of the country if not the world unroll before your eyes while you forget every care and business worry in one day of solid enjoyment?

Having heard this "call of the wild" for a month or so, the La Crosse Merchants' Protective association have decided to take a holiday, June 26, and go on a big excursion. While the stores will not be closed, the proprietors and a large share of their force of clerks, wives, families, friends, their wives, families and friends, at ultimatum, will embark on the Steamer Frontenac and barge and, in case this boat is not big enough to take care of the crowd, another steamer will be hired for the occasion.

The steamer or steamers will "weigh anchor" at 9 a. m. (Here's hoping the weather is nice) and will reach Winona at 1 p. m. For five hours the merchants of La Crosse will visit the places of business in the upriver city renewing old acquaintanceships and cementing new friendships. After supper in Winona the boats will leave for the return trip, arriving in this city at 9 p. m.

It is expected that a record breaking crowd will attend the Merchants' excursion because of the fact that it will be the only one of its kind given this year. The Grocers instead of giving an excursion will hold a big picnic in Myrick park in July.

Dancing and music by the boat orchestra will furnish amusement for the younger people and, if other years furnish any clue, for some of the merchants who are "not so old." If the directors of the association believe that the crowd will be larger than can be obtained comfortably accommodation on the Frontenac and its barge another boat will be hired to accompany the steamer.

It is easy to appreciate the beauties of the simple life—if you are not obliged to live it.

M. & M. SPECIAL STOPS AT TOMAH

TOMAH, Wis., June 8.—The Milwaukee Merchants and Manufacturers' association who were on their twelfth annual trade excursion stopped over here for about three hours Thursday. The men numbering about one hundred, arrived in a special train consisting of ten coaches, four dining cars, four sleepers, one buffet car and one baggage car. On arriving they were taken up to the business portion of the town with automobiles belonging to Tomah citizens, after which they spent the time with merchants and at the Business Men's club rooms. After dinner one hour was left to complete their visit. Many unique souvenirs were given away. The reason for their trip was not so much to "Boost Milwaukee" as to "Boost Wisconsin." The train left at two o'clock sharp for points on the Valley Division and Northern Michigan. Besides the business men the following prominent railroad men also made the trip: Mr. W. H. Dodsworth, J. M. Davis, N. J. Boyle, G. W. Wilson, W. H. Heinrich and W. W. Winston.

Commencement exercises were held Wednesday evening when a class of thirty-six received diplomas. The class was of the same number as that of last year. The end of this school year marks the twenty-fifth year of Miss Adeline Kiefer's service in the Tomah high school. The high school annual was dedicated to her and with these words the honor was bestowed upon her: "To the one who has always remained our friend and guide, who has stood by us through victory and defeat, and despite our many faults has always seen the best in us, and to whom we shall attribute a great part of any success we may achieve in life, this book is affectionately dedicated." The school feels this was the best that they could do to honor her, while the Alumni at the annual banquet presented her with a handsome diamond ring. This banquet was enjoyed by all who were present and after the banquet a program and a dance was held.

The city baseball team journeyed to Elroy Sunday and were defeated by the close score of 7 to 6. The players put up a good game but could not overcome the lead which the Elroy men had at the start. The Tomah battery was Drew and Snodgrass.

The Tomah fire department and band expect to attend the Firemen's tournament which will be held in Reedsburg, June 19, 20 and 21. The Tomah department hopes to take their new hook and ladder outfit and a full quota of men.

The "frog" shops base ball team went to Ridgeville on Sunday and were defeated by a score of 12 to 4. A return game will be played later in the season.

CHURCH NEWS

POPE CELEBRATES 77th BIRTHDAY.

ROME, June 8.—Pope Pius X has just passed his seventy-seventh birthday, hale and cheerful, with a pontificate which the world over is peaceful and prosperous, especially in America. Discussion of his successor in the chair of St. Peter is not heard beyond the ordinary, but when the Supreme Pontiff is as advanced in years as is the present one there is invariable interest in a situation into which a conclave may come at any time. The very passing of the birthday makes that interest keen.

There is a point about the succession that it is well for Americans to bear in mind. It is that the next Pope will not be one of their number. Nor will he be one who speaks, as native of it, the English language. Indeed, the next Pope is certain to be an Italian. It is not to be denied that conditions in and around the Vatican are changing. The Catholic Church is more Catholic and less Roman than ever before in its long history. One of the things that it will celebrate next year, when will occur the one thousandth anniversary of religious freedom for the Church, will be its world wide character; world wide in its views at its centre as well as universal in its administration.

Setting Up For Themselves.
Since their founding, the Y. M. C. A. of the United States and Canada have worked together through what has been called the International committee. Now, following the national spirit obtaining in Canada, the Dominion Y. M. C. A. is setting up for themselves. The change is an amicable one, and the American part of the Committee will continue to co-operate. Reports will, however, be separate from now on, and Canada will have its own committee, and its own headquarters, which will be in Canada, probably in Toronto.

The Canadian part of the International Association has always held a commanding place, larger indeed in some respects than its numbers and wealth indicate. Many of the greatest meetings for organizations have been held in Canada, and Dominion men have had large voice in the control of work, even working strictly within the United States. Canadian cities are equipped with Association buildings quite as complete and expensive in proportion to size and wealth as are American cities. Especially strong are Associations in Canada educational institutions, while Canada railroads have established railroad branches that are in some instances models of their class.

The change from being part of the United States to a national committee has come about gradually, but has been hastened by recent political events between America and Canada. The national spirit in the Dominion has grown, and in no class more rapidly than in Christian young men. The decision to cut loose has just been made at a convention held in Winnipeg. The plan is to unite the three Provincial Committees now in Canada into one National Committee, members of the latter to be also members of the old International Committee. Better supervision and larger development are looked for.

Quakers Are Now Better Friends.
Quakers are feeling the impulse toward unity. At the Yearly Meeting of Hicksite Friends of Philadelphia a letter of greeting was ordered sent to the London Yearly Meeting. Quakers maintain relations between Meetings by sending formal letters. It was in 1828 that Friends in America separated. Since then the liberal element has stood still in numbers, and is now steadily losing ground, while the Orthodox element grows rapidly, especially in the Middle West. The London Yearly Meeting never separated. Not until this year has the Hicksite sent a letter to the London one. Mention of this long silence is contained in the letter. Not time enough has elapsed to get a reply from London, but there is no doubt the relations will be renewed.

Suffragan For Rural Parts.
Another suffragan bishop has been to the Episcopal House of Bishops, or will be if the action of the Episcopal Church in Iowa, just taken, is ratified by the rest of the Church. There has long been talk of dividing the Diocese of Iowa, which includes the whole state. Such course would result in the election of a diocesan bishop of the usual kind. In some other states the coadjutor bishop has been chosen, as in West Virginia and New Hampshire, but the new law taking effect, Iowa leads all rural dioceses in electing a suffragan. He is a Rev. H. S. Longly, rector of the Episcopal Church at Evanston, Ill.

Hearing and doing. Luke vi:39-49. Golden Text—Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves. Jas. 1:22.

(1.) Verses 39-40—Why is it possible or not for an unconverted man to be the means of the conversion of a sinner?

(2.) What reason is there to hope that a cold and formal pastor with fine ability may have a gracious revival in his church?

(3.) What are the chances that a religious teacher will develop in his disciples a religious experience superior to his own?

(4.) Verses 41-42—What is the character of the man who is severe on the bad deeds of another while himself habitually doing things that are worse?

(5.) If a father who uses tobacco blames or chastises his seventeen-year-old boy for smoking, would you or not say he was a hypocrite, and why?

(6.) If parents do not live up to what they teach their children, which will the children follow, the example or the precepts?

(7.) If parents insist upon their children and young folks attending the Bible school, would you say, and why, that under ordinary circumstances the parents ought to attend also?

(8.) Verses 43-45—How much value ought we to give the fact that a man is a member of a church, when we know nothing else of him, in estimating his reliability?

(9.) If a man professes to be a Christian and is stingy, a hard man to make a bargain with, who runs down what he wants to buy and praises unduly what he wants to sell, what estimate should we put upon his profession of Christianity?

(10.) How should we estimate a woman engaged in good work, professing to be a Christian and yet taking pleasure in talking behind their backs about the shortcomings of others?

(11.) Verse 46—If a man is ever so orthodox, but is not living a straight life, what avails his orthodoxy?

(12.) Of what avail is prayer if a man is not loving and kind to everybody?

(13.) Verses 47-49—What is the foundation to build on which will stand the stress and strain of life, of death and eternity?

(14.) What is the certain fate of those who profess to be Christians, but are not?

Lesson for Sunday, June 16, 1912. Christ's Witness to John the Baptist. Matt. xi:2-19.

Twain and The Office Boy

Mark Twain did not cherish a fondness for the average office boy. He had an idea that the genus was insufferable, and invariably, when the humorist sallied forth into some business office, there was immediate armed hostility between him and the boy.

One day Mark went to see a friend at his office, and the office boy on guard, in icy tones, said:

"Whom do you wish to see?"

Mark mentioned his friend's name.

"What do you want to see him about?" came next from the boy.

Mark Twain immediately froze up and then with a genial smile said:

"Tell him, please, I want to ask his hand in holy matrimony."

The Clever Osteopath

A certain osteopath was treating a young lady who had very weak ankles and wrists. As she lived in a town quite a distance from his own city, he was forced to leave the city Saturday of each week and go to the town in which the young lady lived, give her the treatment on Sunday, and return to the office on Monday. A friend once asked the osteopath how he had arranged to give the young lady the treatments for her ankles and wrists, when she lived at such a distance, and the osteopath replied, "Oh, I go out and treat her week ends."

Keeping the Lunch Dry

Brewer Corcoran, author of "The Bantam," was recently in the south quail shooting and engaged Joe, an attractive pickaninny, with elemental conceptions of honesty, to carry the guns and lunch basket. Crossing a bridge made of an old tree trunk, Joe slipped and fell screaming into the creek. When he scrambled ashore, fears were expressed by the hungry sportsmen for the condition of the food. "Did that lunch get wet?" queried one of the party. "No, suh!" "Are you sure?" "Deed ah is." "How did you keep it dry?" The boy looked up at the man and grinned, "Ah done et it back yonder."

Morse Was Irresistible

A New York broker was praising, apropos of his probable return to Wall street, Charles W. Morse's ability as a money raiser.

"They tell a story about Morse," he chuckled. "Morse went to a millionaire one day and said:

"Lend me $3,000,000. I must have $3,000,000 for that new deal of mine."

"Sorry, Morse," said the millionaire, "but I've only got $2,000,000 in ready money today."

"Is that all?" said Morse. "Well, hand it over then—you can owe me the other $1,000,000."

LA CROSSE SINGERS TO TOUR THE WEST
The Carroll college male quartet, consisting of Earl Lockman, Edgar Best, Russell Oakes and John Otten, of La Crosse, has been taken under contract for a tour through the west by the Redpath Lyceum bureau.

They will spend six weeks giving concerts in the west and will appear at the Wisconsin summer resorts. Later they will make an independent tour of western Wisconsin.

The members of the quartet are all well known in La Crosse, having taken part in several musical programs in this city prior to their enrollment at Carroll college. They were members of the Y. M. C. A. quartet at one time.

The La Crosse boys are working their way through college by giving musical concerts and have met with excellent success. This is the first time that any Wisconsin college organization has been engaged for professional concert work.

Our properties are not prospects, but fully developed mines with over 300,000 tons of ore blocked, and we are now blocking ore at the rate of 500 tons daily.

Owing to the recent destruction by fire of The Bear Creek Mill we are now offering a block of stock in The Junta and Jim Crow properties at 90 cents per share.

Our companies are backed up by the best financial and personal references in the state of Colorado, both as to the value of the properties and the management.

Owing to the low capitalization of our companies this stock is bound to double in value as soon as our new mill is completed.

Exhibits of ore and further details at our office. Write or call.

OUTCASTS LOSE IN THE ELEVENTH

Rochester Gets Five Hits
Off Nally in the Eleventh and Wins Game by 8 to 5 Score

Both Bues and Nally were hit hard by the Surgeons yesterday and as a result Rochester took the opening game of the series with the Outcasts in eleven innings by the count of 8 to 5. Five hits in the eleventh sent three Surgeons scampering over the counting station and thus put an end to a free hitting combat.

Both teams were forced to send rescue hurlers to the mound before the game was very old for Weidell and Bues, who started, were ineffective. Weidell tried to repeat his feat of Tuesday when he beat the Outcasts but he lasted but two rounds, during which time Bonds' gang got to him for three hits and as many runs. He was sidetracked at the beginning of the third for Hruska, who baffled the locals and allowed them but six hits and two runs in the nine remaining frames.

After getting along fairly well for three innings, although the Surgeons were finding him, Bues went up in the air in the fourth and before Bonds yanked him in favor of Nally two runs were in and the score was knotted. They didn't hit Nally hard until the eleventh when five hits settled the game.

Graves furnished the sensational fielding feature of the day in the eleventh, when he made a wonderful catch of Walker's hit and robbed him of a triple. The ball would surely have hit the fence had it got away from him but he was after it from the crack of the bat and while running full speed he stuck up his gloved hand and speared the slam or several more runs would have resulted. In the seventh Meinert was playing just right for Collins and he took a hot line drive away from him. In addition to this Dutch slammed out a triple in the eighth which tied the count at five all. Bonds was the heavy hitter of the day for the Outcasts, getting four hits in five times up while Jacobs of Rochester got a quartette of safe swats in six trips to the plate.

The Outcasts started out well by getting a run in the first round which Graves opened by walking. Meinert sacrificed him ahead and Bonds singled but Graves was held at third. Bonds stole second. Graves registered on Du Chien's sacrifice fly to Collins and Bonds went to third but Weidell grounded out. Rochester came right back and tied it up in the second, Gates singling, stealing second, going to third on a sacrifice and counting on Jacobs' single.

Weidell's wildness, coupled with two doubles, was responsible for two Outcast runs in the second. Jacobs misjudged Larson's fly to left field and it went for a double. Brown hit to Weidell and Larry was caught on his way to third and run to death, but Brown reached second. Van Horn lined one out to center field and Collins fell down so the hit went for two bases, counting Brown. Weidell then got wild, passing Graves. Meinert and Bonds in a row, forcing Van Horn home. Du Chien's fly closed the round and also finished Weidell.

Rochester again tied it up in their fourth. R. Walsh singled and a sacrifice advanced him. Jacobs scored him with a single and he went to second on the throw home. Hruska also singled, scoring Jacobs and he went to second when Graves fumbled the hit. Meinert made a swell catch on M. Walsh's single and Walker took care of Walker.

Rochester went into the lead in the fifth which Dreis blew open by being hit. With Collins up the hit and run play was tried. Dreis went for second on the first ball and Collins doubled to right center, scoring him. They added another in the sixth when Meinert muffed Hruska's fly, letting him take second. He scored on M. Walsh's single and Walker's sacrifice fly.

Dutch Meinert tied it up in the eighth. Two were dead when Graves walked, his third pass of the day, and Meinert tripled to left field, counting Graves.

The end came rather suddenly, for Dreis knocked a double to left just after Graves made his great catch of Walker's fly and he barely missed the latter slam. Collins fanned but

E. T. Cook, formerly of Cornell university, was the latest entrant in the pole vault here. He will wear the colors of the Cleveland Athletic club, and upon him the westerners are placing their hope of making a pole vault record.

He was in excellent condition after defeating Jack Brennan in four rounds of what was intended to be a ten round bout last night. McFarland hammered Brennan so hard during the fourth round that after he had gone down for the count of nine, the crowd shouted to stop the fight.

Hearing and doing. Luke vi:39-49. Golden Text—Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves. Jas. 1:22.

(1.) Verses 39-40—Why is it possible or not for an unconverted man to be the means of the conversion of a sinner?

(2.) What reason is there to hope that a cold and formal pastor with fine ability may have a gracious revival in his church?

(3.) What are the chances that a religious teacher will develop in his disciples a religious experience superior to his own?

(4.) Verses 41-42—What is the character of the man who is severe on the bad deeds of another while himself habitually doing things that are worse?

(5.) If a father who uses tobacco blames or chastises his seventeen-year-old boy for smoking, would you or not say he was a hypocrite, and why?

(6.) If parents do not live up to what they teach their children, will the children follow, the example or the precepts?

(7.) If parents insist upon their children and young folks attending the Bible school, would you say, and why, that under ordinary circumstances the parents ought to attend also?

(8.) Verses 43-45—How much value ought we to give the fact that a man is a member of a church, when we know nothing else of him, in estimating his reliability?

(9.) If a man professes to be a Christian and is stingy, a hard man to make a bargain with, who runs down what he wants to buy and praises unduly what he wants to sell, what estimate should we put upon his profession of Christianity?

(10.) How should we estimate a woman engaged in good work, professing to be a Christian and yet taking pleasure in talking behind their backs about the shortcomings of others?

(11.) Verse 46—If a man is ever so orthodox, but is not living a straight life, what avails his orthodoxy?

(12.) Of what avail is prayer if a man is not loving and kind to everybody?

(13.) Verses 47-49—What is the foundation to build on which will stand the stress and strain of life, of death and eternity?

(14.) What is the certain fate of those who profess to be Christians, but are not?

Wit of Sages, Folly of Clown, Stolen Gems from Humor's Crown.

Twain and The Office Boy

Mark Twain did not cherish a fondness for the average office boy. He had an idea that the genus was insufferable, and invariably, when the humorist sallied forth into some business office, there was immediate armed hostility between him and the boy.

One day Mark went to see a friend at his office, and the office boy on guard, in icy tones, said:

"Whom do you wish to see?"

Mark mentioned his friend's name.

"What do you want to see him about?" came next from the boy.

Mark Twain immediately froze up and then with a genial smile said:

"Tell him, please, I want to ask his hand in holy matrimony."

"Tell him, please, I want to ask his hand in holy matrimony."

"Tell him, please, I want to ask his hand in holy matrimony."

KEYS TO KINGDOM ARE IN AMERICA

Dr. J. L. Ketman of Chicago Tells Baptists He Believes U. S. Is Chosen of God

"I can't help feeling that we Christians in America have the keys to the Kingdom of God." This was the central idea put forth by Dr. J. L. Ketman, Chicago, in his speech on missionary work before the delegates to the La Crosse Valley Baptist association convention in the First Baptist church Wednesday morning.

Dr. Ketman discussed the progress of Christian missions in Japan, Korea and China, and showed a wide knowledge of the work. He spoke of the necessity of proper caring for the aliens who come to this country lacking in religion.

"I like to think of America," said Dr. Ketman, "as a huge school with its eighty millions of people, and of every boat that comes to our shores as bringing additional freshmen."

"Politically speaking," he said, "New York is the campaign center for the United States. What is true of New York politically is true of America spiritually. America is the campaign ground spiritually for the conquest of the world for Jesus Christ. As goes America during the next decade, very largely, so goes the world for all time to come."

Discussing the missionary situation in China, Dr. Ketman declared the four principal protestant denominations, Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Congregationalist, have at the present time upward of 200,000 converts. He contrasted this with the first years of missionary work in China, when after thirty-five years of effort on the part of American missionaries, there were but six converts.

Referring to the Chinese awakening, Dr. Ketman said:

"Historians tell us that China has made more advance in five years toward civilization than Japan did during any five years of her history, and I think it is true. Today, there are about 18,000 Chinese in the colleges of Japan alone. Our good old Dr. Mabey said that in talking with these Chinese he discovered that more than two-thirds of them had walked a distance of more than hundred miles to go to school. Not only can we find Chinese in the schools of Japan, but in the schools of the world everywhere. China is seeking the light, and we should give her the light."

Golden Opportunity

IS OFFERED TO INVEST

in well developed, high grade Gold Mine. True fissure vein. Free Milling Ore, located at Telluride, Colo., surrounded by such big dividend payers as Liberty Bell, Smugglers Union, Tom Boy, Nelly, Camp Bird, Black Bear, and The Lewis.

Our properties are not prospects, but fully developed mines with over 200,000 tons of ore blocked, and we are now blocking ore at the rate of 500 tons daily.

Owing to the recent destruction by fire of The Bear Creek Mill we are now offering a block of stock in The Junta and Jim Crow properties at 90 cents per share.

Our companies are backed up by the best financial and personal references in the state of Colorado, both as to the value of the properties and the management.

Owing to the low capitalization of our companies this stock is bound to double in value as soon as our new mill is completed.

Exhibits of ore and further details at our office. Write or call.

OUTCASTS LOSE IN THE ELEVENTH

Rochester Gets Five Hits Off Nally in the Eleventh and Wins Game by 8 to 5 Score

Both Bues and Nally were hit hard by the Surgeons yesterday and as a result Rochester took the opening game of the series with the Outcasts in eleven innings by the count of 8 to 5. Five hits in the eleventh sent three Surgeons scampering over the counting station and thus put an end to a free hitting combat. Both teams were forced to send rescue hurlers to the mound before the game was very old for Weidell and Bues, who started, were ineffective. Weidell tried to repeat his feat of Tuesday when he beat the Outcasts but he lasted but two rounds, during which time Bond's gang got to him for three hits and as many runs. He was sidetracked at the beginning of the third for Hruska, who baffled the locals and allowed them but six hits and two runs in the nine remaining frames.

After getting along fairly well for three innings, although the Surgeons were finding him, Bues went up in the air in the fourth and before Bond yanked him in favor of Nally, two runs were in and the score was knotted. They didn't hit Nally hard until the eleventh when five hits settled the game.

Graves furnished the sensational fielding feature of the day in the eleventh, when he made a wonderful catch of Walker's hit and robbed him of a triple. The ball would surely have hit the fence had it not been for him but he was after it from the crack of the bat and while running full speed he stuck up his gloved hand and speared the ball or several more runs would have resulted. In the seventh Meinert was playing just right for Collins and he took a hot line drive away from him. In addition to this Dutch slammed out a triple in the eighth which tied the count at five all. Bond was the heavy hitter of the day for the Outcasts, getting four hits in five times up while Jacobs of Rochester got a quartette of safe swats in six trips to the plate.

The Outcasts started out well by getting a run in the first round which Graves opened by walking. Meinert sacrificed him ahead and Bond singled but Graves was held at third. Bond stole second. Graves registered on Du Chien's sacrifice fly to Collins and Bond went to third but Weidell grounded out. Rochester came right back and tied it up in the second, Gates singling, stealing second, going to third on a sacrifice and counting on Jacobs' single.

Weidell's wildness, coupled with two doubles, was responsible for two Outcast runs in the second. Jacobs misjudged Larson's fly to left field and it went for a double. Graves hit Weidell and Larry was caught on his way to third and run to death, but Brown reached second. Van Horn lined one out to center field and Collins fell down so the hit went for two bags, counting Brown. Weidell then got wild, passing Graves, Meinert and Bond in a row, forcing Van Horn home. Du Chien's fly closed the round and also finished Weidell.

Rochester again tied it up in their fourth. R. Walsh singled and a sacrifice advanced him. Jacobs scored him with a single and he went to second on the throw home. Hruska also singled, scoring Jacobs and he went to second when Graves fumbled the hit. Meinert made a swell catch on M. Walsh and Van Horn took care of Walker.

Rochester went into the lead in the fifth which Dreis blew open by being hit. With Collins up the hit and run play was tried. Dreis went for second on the first ball and Collins doubled to right center, scoring him. They added another in the sixth when Meinert muffed Hruska's fly, letting him take second. He scored on M. Walsh's single and Walker's sacrifice fly.

Dutch Meinert tied it up in the eighth. Two were dead when Graves walked, his third pass of the day, and Meinert tripled to left field, counting Graves.

The end came rather suddenly, for Dreis knocked a double to left just after Graves made his great catch of Walker's fly and he barely missed the latter slam. Collins fanned but

Gates singled and gave Dreis a wide home. Dreis took second on the throw in and he scored when R. Walsh singled. He also took second on the throw in and Juergens kept it up with a single which registered Walsh with the third run. Jacobs made the fifth single of the round but Juergens tried to count from first but he was nailed, Meinert to Weigant to Brown. WESTERNERS AFTER POLE VAULT MARK

CHICAGO, June 8.—Strenuous efforts will be made today by athletes competing in the Olympic trials at Northwestern field to equal the pole vault record hung up last Saturday by Bobby Gardner of Yale when he scaled the bar at 13 feet and 1 inch at the eastern conference meet. E. T. Cook, formerly of Cornell university, was the latest entrant in the pole vault here. He will wear the colors of the Cleveland Athletic club, and upon his hope of making a pole vault record.

PACKEY PLANS TO GO TO EUROPE

MUSKOGON, Mich., June 8.—Packey McFarland of Chicago said before returning home today that he would sail for Europe on June 15 for several bouts he has scheduled abroad. He was in excellent condition after defeating Jack Brennan in four rounds of what was intended to be a ten round bout last night. McFarland hammered Brennan so hard during the fourth round that after he had gone down for the count of nine, the crowd shouted to stop the fight.
